Road Executives Claim and Refuse To Re-establish Seniority—Strike News

(By Associated Press)
Washington, July 21—President Harding was said by Administration advisers, who conferred with him today, to contemplate as the next move in the railroad strike, the summoning to Washington of Chairman Hooper of the Railroad Labor Board, for a full discussion of the questions at issue between the employees and executives.

Probability of a new move was revealed today after the President had been informed by Chairman Cummins and Senators Watson and Kellogg, of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, of the details of the fruitless conference held by the Senators last night with the leading eastern railroad executives.

The information furnished the government through the conference, according to additional disclosures today, was that the principal points at issue in the strike controversy were restoration of seniority and pension rights of the strikers and setting up of a national board of adjustment. The latter was received by President Harding as a new factor, who was said to have been unadvised that this was a strong point at issue. On the question of seniority rights—a big point at issue—the President is said to have been informed that the places of 240,000 of the 400,000 who struck have been filled on a guarantee their places would be permanent.

On the question of a national adjustment board, the executive are reported to be adamant.

TAKE STEPS TO CONSERVE COAL

Government May Ration Coal

(By Associated Press)

Washington, July 21—Distribution of coal through a special commission, is understood today, to be the Administration's plan to make certain fuel necessary to continue railroad operation. Indications after a Cabinet meeting of the president and his advisers, consider the situation serious but not without hopes. It is stated the situation in neither the coal fields or in railroad centers deem it sufficiently serious at present to require the use of federal troops. A formal announcement of the Administration's coal distribution plan is expected before night. It is understood that Secretary Hoover will have charge of the formation of the commission.

He said the personal relation between himself and Gov. Allen is not affected by the incident.

COUNTY TEACHERS CHOSEN BY BOARD

Madison-co. Will Have 300 High School Graduates This Year—Less Than 100 Last Year

The County Board of Education has decided to require all teachers to open the school program in the morning with devotional exercises. All schools will be required to have six hours of actual work exclusive of recesses. The teachers are required to visit the patrons and get into closer touch with all parents in the district. The teachers are to organize parent-teachers organizations and promote interest in school work and activities. Once each month a meeting of all the teachers of the county will be held in the court house at Richmond. These meetings will be held on the last Saturday of each month, although the first will be August 12. Special speakers will appear on the program at these meetings and school work and difficulties will be discussed by all.

Improvements are being made at many schools and additional rooms added where the attendance cannot possibly be accommodated in present quarters. At Johnson school, a church was secured because the attendance had increased so all the children could not be taught in one building. At Green Chapel another teacher is necessary to help handle the work.

In the entire county, according to Superintendent B. F. Edwards, there were less than 100 high school students last year. By having consolidated schools with grades and high school work done in one building, which is equipped and furnished to meet the needs of the students, the attendance has been materially increased. In the Waco High School alone this year, there will be at least 80 high school students. Union and Kirksville will each have 30, White Hall 25, Speedwell 23, and Richmond and Berea combined, 80. There will be about 300 high school students this year.

Sentiment in all communities is for the consolidated school. These buildings are now being equipped with water and lights and are becoming real community centers. At Scaffold Cane school, three miles from Berea, a grocery store is run in connection with the school. The students keep the books which they are taught to do by the principal. This brings the parents to the school where they see their own children at work and gives them an interest in school affairs.

A school census shows: white, male, 2,421; white, female, 2,297; colored, male 444; colored, female 470, making a total of 5,632 school children. In the county there are 26 illiterate children reported. Most of these are children who have moved in from the mountains and are not native born.

There are 200 elementary school graduates from the county schools. Teachers and their locations have been decided on by the county school board. They are:

KERENSKY TO TELL HIS EXPERIENCES

(By Associated Press)

London, Eng., July 20—Startling revelations respecting the dethronement and death of former Emperor Nicholas are promised by Alexander Kerensky, one time President of the Russian Republic, who has been quietly writing his memoirs in a London flat. Kerensky's plan was to spirit the Emperor out of Russia to some neutral European country or to the United States, but this, he contends, was frustrated by Great Britain.

The book of the former Russian dictator will begin with the inception of the war and cover the final collapse of the empire. It will explain not only the causes of the Romanoff overthrow, but the failure of Kerensky's own government.

The writer declares that if the Allies had been willing to let Russia remain passive for a period, they could have kept her as a valuable ally. The book will point out that the Entente insisted on Russia displaying energy on the front while in the throes of a revolution at home.

His own overthrow Kerensky attributes to simultaneous pressure from the two extreme parties, the Royalists on the right and the Bolsheviks on the left, aided by the hostility of the army.

Stanifer's Big Sale On

Mr. J. S. Stanifer, a hustling mid summer clearance sale Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Long before this hour a stream of bargain seekers awaited the opening of the doors to this big sale, and the store was crowded all during the day. Mr. Stanifer conducts a general clearance sale semi-annually and throws his entire stock into the sale. He believes in advertising. For the past week he has been billing this section of the state with seven or eight thousand circulars and the sale has certainly been broadcasted, far and wide. He certainly understands the ropes when it comes to putting on a sale. His sign and banner display in his windows is attracting a great deal of attention. The work was done by "Tim" O'Neil and Oscar Stanifer, who are master painters with the brush. The sale will continue for the next two or three weeks.

EX-MADISONIAN DIES IN WOODFORD COUNTY

Perry Thurman died at his home near Elm Corner on Wednesday night, July 12, at 8 o'clock, aged 68 years and 6 months, says the Versailles Sun.

The deceased was born in Madison county on December 27, 1853, and was a son of James Thurman and Pauline White Thurman. He moved to Woodford county a number of years ago. He is survived by his wife and several children. Mr. Thurman was a highly esteemed citizen of the community in which he lived. He was a quiet, kindly, upright man, who was warmly regarded by all who knew him, a good husband, good father, and good man.

Funeral services were held at the residence on Friday morning at 10 o'clock, and were conducted by Rev. W. J. Gammon, pastor of the Troy and Elm Corner church. The burial took place in the Versailles cemetery.

Here's A New Game

Lexington, Ky., July 21—A new type of bandit has developed here. Carroll Carter, returning from a dinner party last night in an automobile alone saw the body of a man lying face downward in the middle of the road. The man's coat was over his back. Carter stopped the car and bent over the man to lift him. The fellow whirled over with upraised pistol. Another armed man dashed out from the bushes at the side of the road. Both robbers were masked. They robbed Carter of $8 and a gold watch, then with a gun thrust into each of Carter's sides forced him to walk a mile along the road, where the footpads jumped over a fence and disappeared in the darkness. No trace has been found.

LOCAL R. R. YARDS AFFECTED BY STRIKE

Passenger and Freight Service Show Quite a Fall Off—No Disorders Reported

Officials at the Louisville and Nashville railroad yards here state that general effects from the strike have been felt although nothing serious has happened. All passenger trains are running late, some seven and eight hours behind schedule time. There have been no excursions and will not be until conditions are improved. On June 26, which was before the strike, there were 44 trains going north through Richmond. Wednesday morning there were only three. Tuesday nine went north as compared to from 35 to 45 trains before the strike.

Local freight has been moving in and out at a fairly good rate but there has been some complaint by stockmen about the inability to move stock rapidly. There is a great shortage of stock cars. Wednesday between Rowland and Richmond, the company was 12 stock cars short. After these cars are loaded they are moved out in good time and reach their destination about as quickly as usual.

In a big organization like a railroad when there is something wrong in one department it affects all parts and so with the strike although local conditions are not serious.

STRIKERS PLACE PLACARDS HERE

Richmond was touched for the first time Thursday morning with anything out of the ordinary in connection with the present railroad strike other than the freight congestion. A warrant was issued and the case was heard before Judge G. Murray Smith charging strikers from Ravenna with posting placards in a local pool room without permission. Clarence Ballard swore on the stand that he had permission to put the placards up so the case was dismissed. The bills were written in an endeavor to keep "scabs" or non-union men from entering the railroad shops to take the places of the strikers.

Merchants Offer Many Bargains

The merchants of Richmond have the bargains for the people of this section. More than half a dozen merchants have started their summer clearance sales and there is no doubt that they are giving the people some splendid bargains. Among the merchants who are in the swim are Muncy Bros., Rice & Arnold, J. S. Stanifer, R. C. H. Covington Co. and L. H. Glazer. These sales should bring a lot of the country folk to town and put into circulation a big sum of money.

Pineville Will Have Three Coaches in Fall

Pineville, Ky., July 21—Three coaches will help Captain Abe Isaacs make winners out of the 1922 high school football team. M. W. Peterson, graduate of the University of Illinois, with class of 1922, with an athletic record as long as Man o' War's, has been elected to teach in the high school and will help Coach Jones in the athletic department. L. C. Henderson, of Mississippi, has accepted a place on the school faculty and also will assist with athletic work. The Illinois man has played and coached all the branches of sport, is said, and has had two years' work in George Huff's famous summer coaching school.

The Evidence Is At Your Door
Richmond proof is what you want and the statement of this respected resident will banish all doubt:

J. E. Thompson, shoemaker, Edwards avenue, Richmond, says: "A few years ago I took Doan's Kidney Pills to relieve me of a weakened condition of my kidneys that caused my back to ache and hurt when I tried to straighten up after sitting at the bench. Shoemaking is hard on the back and it caused the muscles in my back to get weak. My kidneys were irregular and I had a dull ache across the small of my back. I was lame and he muscles in my back hurt when I got up in the morning. Sometimes I could hardly stand up straight after stooping over. After taking a few Doan's Kidney Pills I was relieved of the trouble."

A TRIBUTE TO MISS BELLE BENNETT

Loving reverence for the most consistent and unblemished Christian character I have ever known, impels this tribute to the memory of Belle Harris Bennett. In the wee small hours of yesternight this noble Christian woman laid down a life rich in service, full of achievement, illuminated at every stage with the virtues and the praise which emanate only from a pure, lofty, unselfish character, whose foundation stone is indomitable trust and faith in God.

The official character of Christian life, work can be, will be, more adequately dealt with by those associated with her in its varied branches, its diverse departments, its tremendous responsibilities. It is more especially the personal viewpoint that inspires this tribute, though the two phases of her life are so closely interwoven as to be almost inseparable.

A very leader of leaders, a tower of strength, she guided the hosts of Southern Methodist womanhood through the breakers to the shore, with never a hint of dominance, or pride of place, or thought of self. She received honors, she wielded powers, she performed duties, she carried responsibilities, that few, even in her home town, dreamed of because of her innate modesty that was akin to humility. With head, heart and conscience in perfect unison, kindly, loving, generous, gentle in consideration of others, these were the qualities that made her a great and useful and well beloved woman, whose every instinct and aspiration was service, and yet greater service: literally dying in her armor—the armor of a valiant soldier of the Cross: a lover of her fellowmen.

Endowed by nature with an artistic temperament she loved the beautiful in nature and in art. Gifted in intellect, she loved the best in literature, so that pictures and books lent their daily inspiration to her daily life.

Her life was rich in love, because in every relation of life, she was so fine, so unselfish, so generous, so helpful. The humble and the lowly received her sympathy, shared her fellowship, and could abundantly testify that hers was an open hand. Indeed, her stewardship was an obligation joyfully acknowledged, never for a moment evaded nor neglected. She lived nobly and conscientiously. She died in the full assurance of faith which guided her life from her youth. She died praying to be brave, to be patient to be tender, when every hour of her life had been resplendently jeweled with these and all other Christian attributes. She died, leaving us who loved her, a precious, a priceless example.

"With Christ which is far better."

VETERANS PLAN BIG PEACE MOVE

(By Associated Press)
Missoula, Mont., July 21—Aided veterans, a million of them, members of the American Legion through their organization have started an international movement for peace. Hanford MacNider, national commander of the American Legion, told the National Editorial Association at its 37th annual meeting here today.

"We believe," said Mr. MacNider, "it is going to become a dominant international force."
"Our war was a war to end all wars. We are not pacifists. We believe in adequate defense for our country. But our eyes were opened through hard experience. We know what war means and to the best of our ability through all the coming years we intend to see that such things do not happen again. To this end there has been formed a great interallied veterans' association. La Federation des Anciens Combattants, made up of all the great veterans' organizations in all the allied countries. It includes in its membership the British Legion which followed our plan of development, and is headed by Marshal Haig; the consolidation of all the French organizations and others from Canada, South Africa, Italy, and Jugoslavia—in fact every allied country.

"You will hear of the progress of its first real Congress in New Orleans next fall, where it meets at the invitation of the Legion. Through this federation the American Legion feels that more can be accomplished than through any international conference or agreements towards the prevention of future wars. One of the Legion's most distinguished guests last year, a great military leader upon whose every word and act the whole world awaited in anxiety during the closing days of 1918, said just the other day, 'You can wreck all your battle ships, throw away all your guns, but you can't change people's disposition just by signing pieces of paper.' That is where our federation will count, for no one can break apart the confidence and faith which has come between these men who have fought together.

"First of all, however, the American Legion stands for America and for the defenders of America."

DODGE BROTHERS COUPE

You will realize, the moment you see this coupe, how perfectly it fulfills a very real need.

It was designed and built by Dodge Brothers in response to that need—long-standing and often-expressed by people in all parts of the world.

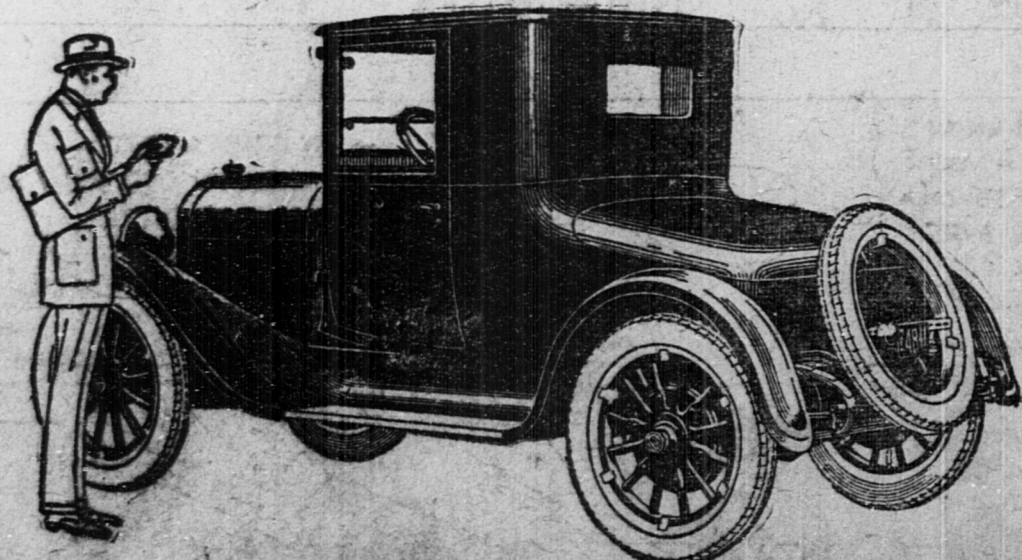

With Dodge Brothers chassis as a starting point, it only remained to create a coupe body which would unite the usual coupe refinements with greater lightness, hardihood and economy.

The world now knows how this was accomplished. An entirely new precedent in closed car construction was established. The body is built of steel.

Moreover, the deep comfortable seat is upholstered in genuine leather. The doors are exceptionally wide. The rear compartment will hold a small steamer trunk and other luggage. The enamel, baked on the steel at high temperature is readily restored, after hard usage, to its original lustre.

In every detail the car reflects the purpose of the builders—to make it a practical car of universal appeal.

WOODLAND HEIGHTS
The recent heavy rains have been very much appreciated, and are very beneficial as crops and vegetation of all kinds were needing rain badly, since everything was taking on the appearance of a drouth in this section. The blackberry crop this year more abundant than for many years. Many people were only too glad to avail themselves of the opportunity of getting a good supply for winter. There were others, however, that were not so fortunate.

School opened at this place the 17th, with Miss Nora Ward as teacher. Attendance very good. Miss Ward is stopping in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Isbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Moore and little son, John Wesley, of Newby Mrs. Belle Burrus and daughter, Amanda Jane, of Millon, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sanders and family.

WEST VIRGINIA MEN CONVINCED

Lexington, Ky., July 21—Six West Virginia growers of burley tobacco from Hurricane, Milton and Winfield, who came here

Tuesday night to learn the actual sentiment of Kentucky members of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association toward their organization, will leave for their homes today thoroughly convinced that the co-operative system of handling burley tobacco has been a success, obtaining their information at first hand from growers they interviewed at home, in their fields, or a big public sale of lambs, which was held Wednesday in Fayette county.

There were six in the delegation from West Virginia and they "paired off" to make their inquiries. C. S. Hollingsworth, of Hurricane, and F. H. Moss, of Winfield, forming one party of investigation, J. M. Chaney and Joseph Jordan, of Hurricane, another, and G. C. Blackwood and J. L. Sturm, of Milton, the other. They made their inquiries independent of any members of the Burley Association, though an automobile was placed at their disposal by members of the association.

"We are thoroughly convinced," said Mr. Sturm, "that members of the association in Kentucky are satisfied with the results obtained for them, by the association, many saying that they had already received twice as much for their crop under the new method of marketing as they had been paid last year, whether they ever receive another cent, though a third and final payment is coming to them."

Mr. Moss and Mr. Hollingsworth said that every grower they interviewed had declared himself satisfied with the system and that, in their opinion, it was a pronounced success.

The West Virginians called at the office of the association and had explained to them the system of grading. They gave the Lexington receiving and storage plants a thorough inspection previous to their trip out in the country to see the growers.

The West Virginians will report their findings to their fellow growers on their return home. The unanimity of view of the Kentucky growers in regard to co-operative marketing made profound impression on the visitors, all of whom are farmers and growers of tobacco, whose purpose in coming to Kentucky was to learn at first hand and directly from the growers themselves how the new system of handling tobacco has worked and whether the growers are satisfied with it.

All said that they did not find a single dissatisfied member of the of the burley association, and that, though they had come to Lexington to remain until Friday, they thought that any further stay was a waste of time, so far as obtaining any additional information was concerned, their experience in this respect being like that of the delegation recently sent by the dark growers of Tennessee to Kentucky for the same purpose.

CLEARED FOR "TAKING UP" FOR MOTHER

Ed Todd, colored, had a warrant issued before Judge John D. Goodloe in county court, for his son, Tom Todd, on a charge of breach of the peace. Ed testified that when he returned Friday night to his home near Brassfield, from Lexington, that his son had a pistol and threatened his life and made him leave home, saying that he had beat up his mother and could not stay there if he was going to do like that. Ed stated that he had not hit his wife and that she broke her hand when she fell. He said they were arguing a little and were not "fussing nor having a fight."

Edna Todd, Ed's wife, testified that her husband had fussed at her for letting the cows get in and eat up the corn and she told him it was the Lord's work because it happened while she was at church. She stated that he was also made because she had taken some bark off the crib and burned it and that he accused her of tearing down the crib. She testified that her husband hit over the head with his fists and somehow in the struggle he broke her hand. She said she left home so the children would not know what happened.

Tom testified that when he came in at night from his work, his mother told him how his father had beat her up. He then met his father, so he said, and told him not to come to the house if he was going to fuss and fight like he had done. Tom said that he had not had a pistol for four years and did not have one at the time. He stated that he was merely "taking up" for his mother. The following jury heard the case and declared Tom not guilty: John Hamm, George Fawkes, R. H. Embree, Wm. Elder, T. B. Hackett, and Jeff Long.

Judge Goodloe reprimanded the three and told them if there was further trouble that all would be punished.

F. H. Barnett, of Moberly avenue, bought of Dr. J. A. Mahaffey, of Big Hill avenue, three lots in Rosedale. The price was not made public.
